IN FAVOR OF REMITTING THE EXTRA CHARGES. A meeting of the Clearing House Committee was to have been held yesterday to consider the extra charge of 1-4 per cent a month, but it was tponed. The members of the committee are said to be in favor of remitting this charge, which was simply imposed for the benefit of the association. It will require, however, a vote of the association to cancel it, although the recommendation of the executive committee will have great weight in deciding the question. As the extra charge accumulates on the certificates in the same way that the storage charges accumulate on silver bullion certificates, an immediate meeting of the Clearing House is not necessary. A reduction of the interest from 9 to 6 per cent would probably encourage other banks to join the movement, and consequently the committee did not hesitate to express its opinion.

The principal feature of the stock market, aside from the ease of money, was the prevalence of rumors affecting the credit of both brokerage and commercial houses. It appeared as if sales of stocks were made simply to excite suspicions of fresh liquidation. It was not considered plain whether these were made for the short account or were merely a part of a skilful manipulation. The rumors about both New-York and country firms were not confirmed, and probably there was no foundation for them. said to be in favor of remitting this charge, which

The future of the firm depends largely on the action of the instituions helding these loans. We hope and fully believe debtedness and leave a handsome surplus besides. While it is too early to make any definite statement, we think that the liabilities will be about $800,000 or

The failure was not unexpected in the Street, as P. W. Gallaudet & Co. were known to be in difficulty last week. In the assignment the following preferences were given: Margaret Gallaudet. $40,000; Fraser, Minor & Co., $3,000, and C. Elliott Minor,

Mr. Gallaudet said that the assets of the firm were considerably larger than their liabilities. "We carried a fair class of stocks," said he, "but the banks require that every security be gilt-edged. Hence some of that every security be glit-edged. Hence some of our securities are unavailable in the present stringency of the movey market. Every demand on us up to this morning has been paid, and we have no outstanding contracts. Our assets are composed of stocks and bonds, and include no commercial paper. We do not jet know the exact amount of our liabilities, but, as I said, they are less than the assets. We expect to pay up everything and resume business."

Brayton Ives, president of the Western National Bank, who was charged on Monday by Assignee Dickson with having slaughtered some of the firm's assets, talked freely of the matter. "We are perfectly willing to make this a test case if Mr. on wishes," he said. "If we are not successful in defeating any suit for damages it will be utterly unsafe for any financial institution to make loans in times like the present. We did not sell out all their securities, and to-day we have made some very favorable transactions with the assignee's authority. I think my experience in the Street should be a sufficient guarantee against a suspicion or accusation that I would act with aught but all the consideration of borrowers possible."

Mr. Ives read a letter from a customer of the bank warmly expressing thanks for the kindly treatment he had received.

THE RUINED FIRM'S CONDITION. STATEMENT TO CREDITORS OF MILLS, ROBESON

Smith, the disgraced member of the firm of Mills, Robeson & Smith, who was arrested on Sunday on a charge of altering stock certificates, was arraigned yesterday afternoon in the Jefferson Market Police Court. His former partners appeared against The specific charge was that of fraudulently obtaining $5.800 by altering certificate of stock No. 30,965 of the capital stock of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railway Company. The prisoner Michigan Southern Railway Company. The prisoner waived examination, and told Judge Gorman that he had nothing to say in answer to the charge against him. He was held under $10,000 ball to answer to the charge of forgery. Detective Sergeant Titus took him to the Tombs, where he was locked up for the

About twenty-five creditors of the firm of Mills, Robeson & Smith met at the office of Deming & Logan, at No. 58 William-st., yesterday, at 4 p. m. W. A. Watson, the assignee of the firm, and his attorneys, Messrs. Deming & Logan, were present The creditors were assured that all possible information would be freely given them, and that every effort would be made by the firm to meet the every effort would be made by the firm to meet the obligations pouring in upon them. "The poculiar nature of this case, however," said one of the attorneys, "plainly indicates that only a small percentage of the claims can be met."

Assignee Watson prefaced his statement with an explanation of the preferences given in the assignment to James H. Fay and E. S. Sanford. It appears that a few days before the failure Fay and Sanford had placed securities to the amount of $1,000 and $15,000 respectively with the firm for safe beautiful the same than the safe beautiful the same than the safe beautiful the same than the safe beautiful safe keeping Smith, however, hypothicated the securities, and Messrs, Mills and Robeson felt it only just to give Messrs. From this statement Mr. Watson said that the de falcations upon the firm amounted to about $362,000, with the possible addition of the $16,000 of doubtful securities, and that the amount of Smith's individual stealings would amount to nearly $130,000. The assets may be still further reduced by the fact that Fourth National Bank, in which is deposited the $16,000 bank balance, claims the right under its agreement with the firm to deduct the $6,200 fraudulently obtained by Smith, who pledged eight shares of Lake Shore stock, worth $800, for a loan of $7,000 from the Fourth National Bank. Many of the creditors were anxious to ascertain the present whereabouts of the securities owned by them but hypothecated by Smith, and much of which is claimed to have been left with the firm only for safekeeping. would have ready a schedule showing as nearly as could be ascertained the present holders of such securities. Besides the loss sustained by the Nassau Bank through Albert H. Smith, the Kings County Trust Company has found that it will probably lose $5,000 by his forgeries. It appears that the trust company had a time loan with Mills, Robeson & Smith, and in the collateral were three of the raised certificates in Smith's name and bearing the indorsement of his firm. The margin of the trust company is wiped out by the forgery and the face of the loan is impaired about $5,000.

For the account of Mills, Robeson & Smith a loan which was said to have been made by the Kings County Trust Company of Brooklyn was closed out at the Stock Exchange "under the rule." It included 100 shares New-York and New-England, 50 American Cotton Oil, 15 st. The last named certificate was for 80 shares in the loan, but had been raised from 8 by the junior member.

THE BANK OF FRANCE'S AID TO LONDON. SOME OF THE BANK'S PECULIAR CONDITIONS-BRITISH OPINION SHOULD BE INFLU-

USE OF SILVER.

The Tribune prints an extract from a letter by George R. Gibson, of the firm of Watson & Gibson, sent to its clients, as it contains much information that is of in-Commenting on the assistance rendered to the Bank of England by the advance of £3.000,000 sterling at 3 per cent, one of the most distinguished financiers of New-York said to us the other day: "Think of it, the leef-cating Englishman had to go to the frog-cating Frenchman for ready money, and the frugal Frenchman said to his Bittish cousin: "We believe your rate is 0 per cent; ours is only 3, and at the lower rate you can have what ours is only 3, and at the lower rate you can have you need." But as a matter of fact this event is not without a parallel, and curiously enough the Barings igured in it then. In 1839, the harvest having been poor agured in it then. In 1839, the narvest having been poor and the drain of specie great, the Bank of England was reduced to such straits that it had to apply to the Bank of France for relief, but as the latter could not loan on anything except in discount of bills or Government second of France for relief, but as the latter coun not loan on anything except in discount of bills or Government securities, and as the Bank of England could not make foreign bills, it was arranged that Baring Brothers should draw upon Paris bankers and then cash the bills, paying over to the Bank of England the proceeds.

At a later period, in 1860, when silver was worth more than gold on the Latin Union ratio of 1 to 15%, the Bank of France had notes outstanding redeemable in either gold or silver, at its option. As its reserves consisted chiefly of silver, if it redeemed in that metal the holders of notes would present them for redemption, trusting to receive silver, which could be sold at a premium. To foreity itself with gold, then the cheaper metal, it amplied to the Bank of England, with which it effected an exchange of £2,000,000 silver for a like quantity of gold.

We recall these facts, as just now public attention is directed to the fraternal relations of these two great institutions and their present traternal feeling.

We may go further, since we are on the subject, and inform our clients, if they are not already familiar with the facts, of some of the peculiar conditions of the Bank of France. When one of our firm was in Paris the past summer, in conversation with the head of one of the largest France-American houses, the latter was asked this question:

"If I take to the Bank of France a large check for this question:

"If I take to the Bank of France a large check for

"If I take to the Bank of France cashing what will it pay me?"
The reply was: "In its paper notes."
"What then will I receive if I present the notes of the Bank of France to it for redemption?"

"It will pay you in sliver."
"What will it do if I ask for gold?"

"It will give you gold, but charge a premium for it."
"Then gold is practically at a premium in Paris on large

It is true that a certain and considerable amount of the yellow metal is in circulation outside the bank in commercial circles, and this finds its way freely into and out of the private banks, but once is falls into the clutches of the Bank of France its reissue is a matter of policy and doubt. The result of this is a heard of $250,000,000 in gold and an smaller figures. Thursday came, with nothing by the firm, except that a late explanation was a to the bank that Mr. Ballou had been busy be Stock Exchange all day, and Mr. Gregory been busy in the office and had not attended a matter. On last Friday a messenger brought a bonds from the firm to strengthen the loan.

The Governor of the Bank of France, at the last convocation of shareholders, laid great stress upon the Loon to the French commercial classes of lower interest rates than paid elsewhere in the world.

The successful management of the Bank of France, which extorts the admiration of the world, must in a great measure be attributed to the free scope allowed its managers. Furthermore it should be attributed to the dual use of gold and silver, which its example shows may operate to protect it from the dangers which beset the sole gold reserve of the Bank of England. The Rank of France is authorized to issue $700,000,000 currency (3,500,000,000,francs), and the proportion of its metallic reserve is left to francs), and the proportion of its metallic reserve is left to the management of the bank, as is the relative proportion of gold and silver constituting that reserve. The Bank of England has restrictions placed around its issues, which, when above £16,500,000, must be solely protected by corresponding gold sovereigns, though it may do what it has not been in the habit of doing—keep one-fifth of its reserve exercise a highly educational influence on British opinion concerning silver and excite a public demand for its increased use. Every measure that prudence can at all countenance will be surely be popular that will fend to increase the metallic base to the structure of British credit, which is now so severely tested in its underpinning.

As soon as the case was called by Judge O'Brien. in the Supreme Court, Chambers, yesterday morning, a new complication was developed in the fact that there were two separate motions for a receiver of the bank. One of these was made by Attorney-General Tabor, on other motion was made by ex-Judge E. L. Fancher, on behalf of William E. Tefft, E. L. Hedden and E. H. Knapp, as executors of the last will of Julia Apgar, of the bank amounts to $240,000, and the Apgar estate holds the sum of $40,000 of this stock. Ex-Judge Fancher's motion was for a receiver practically to continue the business of the bank. A large number of the depositors were represented by counsel. Some of them favored the Attorney-Gen-Fancher. They were unanimous in agreeing that a re-ceiver should be appointed. One of the counsel menwas objected to because it was alleged that one of the receiver's most important duties was to prosecute suits against David R. Paige, the Aqueduct contractor, and Mr. Ridgway, being a former Aqueduct commissioner, was supposed to be friendly disposed toward and Mr. Ridgway, being a former Annahate commander, was supposed to be friendly disposed toward Mr. Palge.

The arguments fasted an hour and a half, at the end of which time Judge O'Brien took the papers and reserved his decision.

Among those mentioned for the receivership, besides E. L. Ridgway, are James Kay, the Union Trust Company, which was suggested by Abbott Bröthers, attorneys for some of the stockholders and depositors, and Bernard Beinecke, a commission merchant, whose appointment is said to be favored by the president, Edward E. Gedney.

It is not impossible that when the excitement subsides entirely there may be a renewal of the agitation which has more than once been started in the Stock Exchange for the adoption of a Clearing House system.

practice of a partner in "raising" glock certificates from seven to seventy, eight to eighty, and so on, has caused some comment upon the need of greater precautions among railway companies. George R. Gibson, of Watson & Gibson, said yesterday: "As wise men take advantage of all accidents and misfortunes, it behooves stockbrokers, stockholders and bankers to use this unfortunate development to correct a careless custom of transfer offices. The Stock Exchange is a power ful institution and represents in its membership mi institution and represents in its membership the should take active and interests of the country. It should take active and interests of the country. It should take active and immediate steps to persuade or compel transfer offices to cut into each cestificate the exact number of shares covered by it. The Pennsylvania Railroad does this, and to increase the protection it pastes a slin of green paper over the aperture to attract attention to it and to mar the certificate when removed."

CASHIER AND MONEY GONE. FAILURES IN ILLINOIS DUE TO A PARTNER'S DISHONESTY.

Chicago, Nov. 18 .- A dispatch from Mount Carme Ill., says: "The Cowling, Gowenlock & Co. failure continues to be the topic of the hour. This was a private banking firm with a small amount of capital. but with excellent credit. Cowling was a big grain buyer and stock dealer. He was supposed to be died November 5. The great advantage of the latter system is that, with few variations in the bank rate, commerce is not exposed to such fluctuations of profit and loss. The Bank of England has nine country branches and two in the city, where as the Bank of France has ninety-four branches in the towns of France, and it maintains the same rate in the country as in the city, and as this is phenomenally low most of the time a vast benefit is conferred on French commerce. The assignee's statement shows that the bank's liabilities are $85,000, which will be likely to be increased to $90,000 or $05,000, as protested checks are coming in every mail. The assets, real estate and paper amount to about $60,000. Investigation shows that the cashier had been dabbling in outside affairs. He was a young man, prepossessing in appearance and address. that they only desired to place the fine art building a site where the Exposition can be held as one exhibit.

This resolution was discussed with considerable acrimony. Mr. De Young said he did not want it shelved as Mr. Mercer's had been, but the president ruled that it should go to the same committee. Mr.

De Young appealed from the decision, but afterward withdrew his appeal. The committee then adjourned Commissioner M. H. De Young, of California, is exceedingly angry, and feels grossly insulted by the remarks which Director W. F. Baker, of Chicago, made concerning him yesterday before the Congressional Committee. "Mr. Baker's speech was the most intemperate I have heard uttered in the whole World's Fair movement," said Commissioner John Boyd Thacher, of New-York, and other commissioners spoke in a similar yein. A joint conference between the Finance Committee of the local directory and the City Council has prepared an ordinance relative to the issue of the $5,000,- 000 of bonds for World's Fair purposes. It provides that $3,000,000 of the World's Fair capital stock shall be paid in before the bonds are sold. The bonds are then to be issued at such times as the directors may suggest. There is some doubt whether the method outlined will meet the requirements of the National act, as the President must be satisfied that $10,000,000 has been raised before he can issue his proclamation and invitation to foreign nations.

" BUFFALO BILL" RETURNS TO AMERICA.

Colonel W. F. Cody, better known as "Buffalo Bill," landed yesterday from the French steamer La Nor-mandie. To a Tribune reporter he said that the stories about the ill-treatment of the Indians connected with the Wild West show were utterly without foundation. The Indians had been simply under the same discipline as the other men who composed the troupe. Certain discipline had, of course, to be maintained with so large ness had in any case been used.

that I sent the men over a month before I came," said the Colonel. "Had I come with them and taken them to Washington, it would have been suggested that my presence would have influenced their evidence. I can only say that I have received orders to-day to proceed at once to the West and report to General Miles, and not a word of censure with regard to the Indians.
"I have left all my horses and finety-eight of my men on a farm near Strasburg, Alsace, and will open on the 1st of April at Strasburg, travelling through Europe again. We have certainly had a successful tour, but the exaggerated accounts of my profits are simply the outcome of the speculator's brain."

The Colonel was looking heavier, heartier, and a little grayer than when he left.

MISTAKE OF A GEORGIA POSTMASTER.

Washington, Nov. 18 .- The Augusta, Ga., "Chroncle," to-day in its report of the races of the Augusta Jockey Club, stated that bookmakers bet 3 to 4 on Fonso, who won yesterday. "The Chronicle" also printed the pools for to-day's races, and announced that pools are sold every night at the Arcade Saloon. Postmaster Denning, at Augusta, insisted that the notice about pools violated the anti-lottery law, and the paper was therefore excluded from the mail on

The attention of the Postmaster-General was called to the action of Postmaster Denning, and he immediately sent him the following telegram: The publication of the result of horse races or pool selling in connection with horse races does not render a paper containing it unmaliable under the provisions of the Lottery Act, unless reference is made to a drawing or distribution of prizes by chance. You may apply this to "The Chronicle" of to-day.

THE PETROLEUM MARKET.

NEWS FROM THE FIELD AND RANGE OF PRICES.

The increase in the dealings in National Transit certificates yesterday was not of a magnitude to merit more than casual reference. At the Stock Exchange there was a net decline in prices of 3-4 cent at 70 1-4 there was a net decline in prices of 3-4 cent at 701-4 cents, after sales at 70 cents. The options at the Consolidated Board went from 71 to 69 1-2m69 3-4 cents. No new influences were at work. The Wildwood district, near Pittsourg, is swelling production, and the field seems likely to hold a prominent place in the situation for a long time. The dulness in refined oil and the Wall Street atmosphere add to the depression. The market closed heavy.
